Sauce for the Goose

It is said, is also sauce for the Gander, but neither Goose nor Gander can prize any sauce half as much as the public admire our

They catch the eye every time and win the admiration of every beholder. It bespeaks a want of good taste to overlook

The Excellences

OF

These Overcoats.

Their superiority is as evident as a hill in the middle of a plain, and the closer and minute your inspection, the more

Description is needless; these Overcoats tell their own story, and tell it so forcibly that you can no more help buying than you can help from smiling at a brand-new joke.

Sharpers are already at work counterfeiting the Columbian half dollar. As the value of these coins is $1 the counterfeiter makes 60 cents on each piece, only putting 40 cents worth of silver in the coin. The bogus are a fac simile of the genuine in appearance and ring. If you desire a genuine coin, buy only from a reliable source.

Many people think they have no right to re-claim a letter after they have deposited it in a post office. As a matter of fact they can claim the letter in the office where it is mailed or at its destination if they can satisfy the p. m. that they are the author of it. The government is not the owner of the letter but merely an agent who has agreed to carry it.

Last Friday evening officer Dave Brown escorted Henry Moxley to Port Huron. Moxley was arrested as being implicated in the stealing of a horse belonging to Alex. Drummond of Lynn. The horse was found hidden in a hay stack on Abe Staley's place in Fremont township. Mr. Brown deserves the title of a first-class detective having found the horse which was so cunningly secreted.

On the new 1 cent stamps Columbus is displayed on the deck of the Santo Marie with clean shaven face, and the land in plain sight, over the starboard bow. On the 2 cent stamps he is landing in his small boat bearing the flag of Spain, and wearing a full beard. History says he landed 12 hours after he sighted land, and it would be worth something to know what brand of hair restorer he used.

Better roads will increase the market values of all farms lying in the immediate neighborhood where the improvement is made, and indirectly increase the values of farming lands located at a distance. They will increase the carrying power of wagons, the drawing power of horses, render fewer horses necessary, save harnesses, wagons, help, and numerous incidental expenses, which the common dirt and muddy roads entail.—N. Y. State Roads Imp. Assn.

Sand Beach seems to be taking time by the forelock. Her citizens are subscribing liberally in reference to sprinkling the streets next summer, about which a right minded citizen is circulating a petition. It is to be inferred from this that Sand Beach is the proud possessor of a snow plow. Yale would be more than proud if her citizens would petition for the latter article and when we found our side-walks once more we would probe again for a sprinkler for future use.

A Fair Warning.

The other evening while the citizens of the Remington school district had gathered together to hear a public lecture in the school house, a person by the name of John A. Richardson while going home from Yale in a drunken condition called in to see what was going on. He misused the speaker and teacher and others far superior to himself. Since then he has settled the matter with the speaker by coming down humbly and offering his hand in friendship and asking his forgiveness, saying "I would not have done it only I was drunk. Please do not publish me." If said John A. will, when sober, allow himself to be privately locked in a box stall with me for 20 minutes, I will guarantee him satisfaction. If said offense against me is not settled inside of 5 days said John A. will have to settle the same by the laws of the land. Signed, Rufus Remington.

"A Bottle in Every Barn"

P. D. Hunt, M. D., who is also a druggist at Peble, Cortland Co., N. Y., cured his favorite horse of scratches with Paroel's Universal Liniment. He wrote to the manufacturers in regard to it and added: "I have sold gallons of the Liniment since, always recommending it to cure scratches, or money refunded, and there was never a bottle returned. In this section in every barn where there is a horse there is also a bottle of Paroel's Liniment. It is used for all cuts, caustics, galls, and all abrasions of the horse's skin. I have only praise for it."

What Makes A Beautiful Woman.

ELKHART, IND., July 1st, 1892: DULLAN'S GREAT GERMAN MEDICINE CO: My daughter has been afflicted with Female trouble for over six years and I have paid out over $750 in vain trying to find relief for her.

A lady friend advised me to secure a bottle of Dullan's Great German Female Uterine Tonic and she has been completely cured by it.

We gave it a fair trial and the results were wonderful. We cannot recommend it too highly to all ladies who are afflicted. BENJAMIN GANGER. For sale by Grant Holden & Bro. Yale, Mich. Martin Bros. & Co. Brockway.
